Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retro-version or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

A Reliable Remedy FOR CATARRH

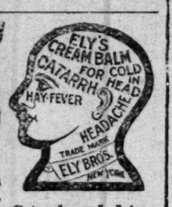
is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.



It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane resulting from Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50 cts. at Druggists or by mail. Liquid Cream Balm for use in atomizers 75 cts. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Catarrh

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety, cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

ARRIVAL OF THE MAURETANIA

With her towering bows incrusted with salt accumulated in her conflict with big November seas, the Cunard steamer Mauretania finished at 11:13 o'clock yesterday morning in a dense fog off Sandy Hook lightship, her maiden trip from Daunt's Rock, outside Queenstown. Her time was five days, five hours, and ten minutes, and her average hourly speed was 22.21 knots.

She broke only one record, that for the best day's run, covering on the nautical day, ending at noon on Thursday, 624 miles, thus eclipsing by 6 knots the best single day's run of her sister, the Lusitania. She also broke the record as a carrier of gold, bringing $12,958,115 chiefly in the form of American eagles and double eagles. It was brought down to the steamship at Liverpool in six specially guarded cars. A part of the consignment is in gold bars from South Africa.

The tempests began buffeting the Mauretania when she was half a day out from Queenstown. On Monday she pitched and rolled incessantly.

It was impossible to keep up steam sufficient to send the big ship through the smashing seas. On her trial trip her propellers averaged about 190 revolutions. On this trip the average was below 160. Her big day's run demonstrated that she has the power to go and can go when the obstructing seas are not too violent.

She lay off the lightship in a thick fog until late yesterday afternoon. The she was brought up through Ambrose channel, not reaching her dock until after dark.

The gold aboard the Mauretania was unloaded this morning.

Among the Mauretania's passengers were William J. White, of New York, who was so pleased with the work of the engine force that he gave Captain Pritchard $960 to give to the stokers as Christmas presents on their return to Liverpool.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

LABOR LEADERS ARRESTED.

The members of the labor federative committee, in Havana, and others taking part in the labor movement, to the number 205, were arrested yesterday afternoon and lodged in jail, bail being refused. Instructional Judge Miyeres, in view of many charges of violence and intimidation by strikers, cluminating Thursday in the stoning of working masons, in the course of which one man was killed, concluded that the committee was responsible for all the outrages.

He ordered the secret police to arrest the members of the committee and all others present at a labor meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon, it being his theory that the latter would be there to receive orders as to who were to be attacked.

A builder named Quintana complained yesterday that his workmen had been assaulted and intimidated and Emilio Sanchez, the president of the federative committee, and Feliciano Prieto, its secretary, were arrested. They were released on bail of $300 each. Yesterday Quintana made another complaint and Judge Miyeres canceled the bail bonds and ordered the arrest of all members of the committee.

Eight secret police went to make the arrests, but finding so many involved they invoked the aid of the municipal police. It took three hours to transport the prisoners from the place of meeting to the police station in patrol wagons. Thence they were sent to jail for the night.

The prisoners represent all the different labor unions, but most of them are delegates of the striking railroad men and masons. President Alfonso, of the Railway Employes' Union, is among the prisoners. When the police arrived the meeting had not been formally opened, but they nevertheless proceeded to arrest everybody present.

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by E. S. SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 23, 1907.

NO MATTER what divergencies of opinion may exist concerning some of Mr. William J. Bryan's ideas on political economy, the fact that he is a gifted man must be apparent to all who hear him. There is a flow of language and originality of thought about him which is simply irresistible, and his audiences never tire. His address in Alexandria last night was a masterly effort, and those who gathered at the Opera House felt that it was good for them to be there. The lecture was interspersed with dashes of humor, while the vivid descriptions Mr. Bryan gave of his observations and impressions in other climes were entrancing. World tours are beyond the grasp of the large majority, although many are racked with the honest passion for travel and mingling temporarily with those of other countries, and when a man with Mr. Bryan's powers describes what he actually saw the stay-at-homes are afforded an opportunity of traveling as it were with the mind's eye with him. The famous Nebraskan spoke for about an hour and three-quarters, and to print all he said would probably fill this page. There was a steady flow of language from start to finish without a stumble, and a spiritual vein in much which he said. His pictures of Palestine and apt scriptual references were greatly enjoyed, especially by those who study the Land and the Book.

TODAY, it is said, New York holds fully $500,000,000 belonging to the rest of the country. The great bulk of this money is owed to industrial centers and points throughout the United States. With all this $500,000,000 of the country's money on deposit in New York financial institutions, most of it loaned out on Stock Exchange collateral, which cannot be realized upon under present market conditions, banks all over the United States are urgently trying, but without avail, to get their funds back to meet the needs of legitimate business. Financial powers of Wall street feel that they have the country by the throat. At the same time they resent the criticism, and particularly the urgent demands of banks in the interior for payment of moneys deposited with institutions in this city when general conditions were as they are. They snarl back that sympathy would be wasted on short-sighted bankers, who sent their money to New York, tempted by the high interest rates which inflated speculation caused to be offered, and seem to care little for the rest of the country in their aim to force the government to their terms.

IT IS said that in the conference at the White House last night between the President, Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. J. P. Morgan, Mr. Cortelyou announced his new plan to save the financial situation. It is the most astonishing device ever proposed to meet an emergency. Here are some of its details: The "popular subscription" for the government debt certificates having failed, the entire issue of $100,000,000 is to be "sold" to national banks. Mr. Cortelyou, however, will not ask these patriots to pay the full amount into the national treasury. He will demand only $25,000,000, and will leave in the banks the other $75,000,000, for the bankers to sell to the highest bidder, for their own profit. The bankers will then deposit the $100,000,000 of certificates in the United States Treasury and will be allowed to issue against them $100,000,000 of additional circulation—new bank notes. All this, Mr. Cortelyou believes, is going to operate to relieve the country mightily!

IT IS said that many bankers throughout the country who read the plan suggested by Mr. Bryan for the relief of the money panic agreed that it was one of the most logical solutions of the matter that has yet been suggested, at the same time being so simple that it could be put in operation without delay. There is more money being hoarded in banks and trust companies at present than ever known in the history of the country. The loss of confidence by the depositor being the sole reason for the withdrawal of funds, Mr. Bryan's plan, guaranteeing the depositor against loss in national banks, would quickly relieve the situation.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Proceedings of the Court of Appeals in Richmond yesterday were as follows:

Howard vs. Landsbergh's committee. Fully argued and submitted.

Bugg vs. Seay. Argued and submitted.

Next cases to be called:

Chilton et al. vs. Haansbet, et al., Taylor, receiver, vs. Sutherlin Meade Tobacco Company; Wingfield vs. McGhee and others; Knights of Columbus vs. Burroughs, etc.; Burton et al. vs. Siefert Plastic Relief Company; Southern Railway Company vs. Hansbrough's administratrix, and Smith's administrator vs. Norfolk and Western Railway Company, being Nos. 3, 5 to 10, inclusive.

From Washington.

Washington, Nov. 23.

William J. Bryan said today, after a talk with the President, that he believed the government would have been acting more wisely had it "begun at the other end" to restore confidence in the country and bring business to its normal condition. He would have the government gain the confidence of depositors immediately, by coming forth as the guarantor of the deposits of national banks. "It would be an easy matter for Congress to pass a law without delay putting this plan into execution," said Mr. Bryan, after his talk with the President. "All the banks that went into the plan would be called upon to 'make good' whenever a bank failed, and the percentage of loss that each would be called upon to pay would be so small that it would be hardly worth speaking about." Mr. Bryan talked with the President nearly half an hour. He came to the White House within a few minutes of the departure of Representatives Payne and Dalzell who had announced, when they left, that there would be no tariff revision during the coming session of Congress. When asked what he thought of that announcement, Bryan smiled and said: "They are better judges of what a republican Congress will do than I am." Then he added: "If I were to decide upon the tariff matter, I would put everything on the free list that comes in competition with trust-made articles." "But Mr. Payne says that the tariff on paper pulp is only 15 per cent." some one suggested. "Then, if it is so small, why should there be any objection to removing it?" he replied. In discussing his bank plan, Mr. Bryan said that he did not care to make any criticisms of the action of the government relative to the present financial troubles. "I don't know about the law they acted upon to talk with authority," he said. Bryan said he had had a very pleasant talk with the President, and that he had come upon his own initative. "I always call upon the President to pay my respects, whenever I am in town," he added.

It is said here that the success of the 3 per cent. Treasury certificates will enable Secretary Cortelyou to defeat plans for their purchase for speculative purposes. The issue will not be "a popular loan" in the sense that was first contemplated. Hereafter only those private individuals who can clearly show that the purchase price is not to be withdrawn from the banks, will be favored. By the adoption of this arrangement, the Treasury Department it is said will be enabled quickly to swell the money volume through increased public deposits and additional bank circulation. At the time the certificate issue was decided upon, it was in the minds of the President and Secretary Cortelyou to get into circulation the money that had been withdrawn from the banks by timid depositors. This phase of the financial flurry is not so prominent, now, it is claimed. Deposits of banks have increased, particularly within the past week. The administration's method of affording relief is reported by bankers in some sections of the country to have been potent in aiding in the restoration of confidence. It is held by Treasury officials, that if this is once regained, the disturbance will be passed. The present embarrassment in many localities, it is said, is caused by banks themselves hoarding money. They want to be prepared to respond to any unusual and sudden demand. "It is a case of over-preparedness, and not lack of money" is the way a Treasury official put it today.

The presence of J. Pierpont Morgan in Washington today is accepted by some as an evidence that Wall street has somewhat recovered from its panicky condition. It is the first time he has been away from New York during business hours since conditions became threatening. It is believed that he came to Washington at the suggestion of the administration to discuss the question of legislation to prevent recurrence of panics in the future. The President is known to have the highest regard for Morgan, not only as a citizen, but as a man of affairs, whose judgment is particularly good in matters pertaining to finance.

"There will be no tariff revision at the coming session of Congress" said Representative Payne, of New York, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Representative Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, of the committee on rules after a conference with the President today. They called on the President to discuss both the tariff question and the subject of currency legislation.

Speakers of world-wide reputation addressed the international convention of Y. M. C. A. workers of North America in session in the D. A. R. hall today.

Dr. Robert Bruce Donaldson, one of the oldest residents of Washington, died last night, aged 81 years. He was a native of Waterford, Loudoun county, Virginia, and when a young man attended school in Alexandria.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Among the acts of the American Federation of Labor in Norfolk yesterday was a declaration against the immigration of Japanese on the same grounds as for the exclusion of the Chinese, and a declaration in favor of a universal eight-hour day for labor. The Federation sees the supplanting of the American laborer by "little brown men" in the immigration of the Japanese, and holds the acquirement of the eight-hour day as paramount even to an advance in wages, except in trades where earnings are so meagre as to make difficult the maintenance of the fair standard of living.

A campaign of education is called for in the interest of the eight-hour movement. It being the sense of the convention that it would be impossible to secure a universal eight-hour day by any sudden movement, a call was issued for the accumulation by all trades of a sufficient fund for the fight "when opportunity shall favor the most immediate success".

The hour for the election of officers of the Federation was changed from 10 to 2 o'clock today.

New York Stock Market.

New York, November 23.—The stock market continued the improvement that developed yesterday and there was a strong tone all around the room with advances ranging generally from 1 to over 2 points. The buying was about evenly divided between purchases for long account and covering of shorts. Some of the bullish traders spoke of an expected favorable showing of the bank statement as a reason for the aggressive buying this morning and one of the largest room traders asserted that he had confidence that the banks of this city will resume cash payments in full around December 1 and that premium on currency will disappear before that time.

THE BRADLEY CASE.

The attorneys for Mrs. Bradley are utilizing a number of witnesses to prove that there was insanity in her family and that she was insane when she fired the shot that killed ex-Senator Arthur Brown, of Utah.

The "hypothetical question" that figured so prominently in the trial of Harry K. Thaw will be introduced. In the Bradley trial this hypothetical question will review the circumstances of the case and minutely picture her supposed mental condition. It has already been prepared and contains 13,000 words.

The defense called to the stand yesterday a number of witnesses to testify as to the condition of the mind of Mrs. William H. Ryan, an aunt of Mrs. Bradley, whose mind is said to have been unbalanced by worry and excitement.

The reading of letters written to the defendant by Brown occupied part of the session.

When court adjourned yesterday the defense had practically completed its presentation of proof, very little remaining, except the testimony of experts, who will be introduced for the purpose of showing that when Mrs. Bradley shot Senator Brown she was insane.

When the trial is resumed next Monday the defense will place on the stand its expert alienists.

The arguments to the jury will be made either Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

Washington, Nov. 23 — With all the evidence of fact submitted, the government attorneys, and these who are conducting Mrs. Bradley's defense, took advantage of the respite given them today by the adjournment of court, to prepare for the struggle of the experts on Monday.

Mrs. Bradley's attorneys are today more confident that ever of securing her acquittal. The last link in their testimony was provided by the uncle of the woman, S. Shrewsbury, who told of the stain of insanity in Mrs. Bradley's family, exactly similar to that which is put forward as the reason for the shooting of Brown.

The case of the defense is now complete with the exception of the testimony of the experts.

"I don't see how the jury can bring in any other verdict than that of a quittal," said Judge Powers today. "The woman was crazy, and we have shown it. The expert testimony will only strengthen our case. If Dr. Evans, who received $1,000 a day in the Thaw trial, has so strong a conviction that he is willing to come down here without a cent of compensation to testify to his belief that Mrs. Bradley was insane at the time of the shooting, certainly we have nothing to fear."

AN INTERESTING DECISION.

The Court of Appeal in Richmond on Thursday renderedan interesting decision in the case of Southern Railway Company vs. Smith from the circuit court of Amherst county, the judgment of which court is affirmed by Judge Harrison's opinion.

In this case Smith recovered damages in the amount of $15,000 for injuries received by him in the yard at Monroe, Va., while in the employ of the company as yard foreman. In the discharge of the duties of his position, switching cars, making up trains, etc., it was customery and necessary for Smith to ride from point to point on the switching engine. On the evening of the accident he was returning from the performance of his work to the yard office, standing, as was his custom, on the step of the engine, holding to the handles with both hands. In this position he was within two feet of the engineman, whom he directed as the next point to take the engine, and also told him to slow up as he passed the office in order that Smith might got off.

As the officer was approaching, the engineman, with full knowledge of the plaintiff's position, applied the steam in such manner as to cause the engine to suddenly and violently lunge forward in an unusual and dangerous manner, throwing Smith to the ground and under the wheels of the engine, which crushed and destroyed his arm.

The main contention in the case was over the relation existing at the time of the accident between Smith and the engineer.

The Supreme Court holds that the engineer and yard foreman were fellow-servants; that he was on the engine in the usual and proper discharge of his duty, and entitled, therefore, to the benefit of the protection of the constitutional provision abolishing the doctrine of fellow-servant as to every employe engaged in any service requiring his presence upon an engine; and that he was entitled to recover damages of the company for the injury received as a result of the negligence of the engineer.

It is further held that the verdict cannot be set aside because of the large damages awarded, for the question is not whether the court, if acting in the place of the jury, would give more or less than the amount of the verdict, but whether the damages awarded by the jury are so large as to indicate that they acted under the impulse of some undue motive, gross error or misconception of the subject.

Trustee for Southern Railway.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 23.—David C. Edwards, a director of the Ohio Traction and traffic chief of the Widener-Elkins Ohio Traction Syndicate was appointed a trustee of the Southern Railway by the judges of the superior court today. Edwards was formerly passenger traffic manager of the Cincinnati-Hamilton and Dayton Railroad and was active in the attempt in 1906 to sell the Southern Railway to a coterie of capitalists. The citizens voted down the attempt.

Mr. James M. Shirley, a life long resident of Prince William county, died at his home near Manassas on Thursday, November 14.

War Accounts Settled.

London, Nov. 23.—The Russian Ambassador handed a $24,309,200 draft to the Japanese diplomatic representative here today, the balance due the Mikado from the Czar for the maintenance of Russian prisoners in Japan during the late conflict. The payment settles the war account between the two nations.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Fire on an Ocean Steamer.

New York, Nov. 23.—A story of fire at sea which might have endangered the lives of her 1,000 passengers was brought to port today by the French liner Savoie. Only the prompt work of Captain Poirot saved the vessel from a dangerous conflagration.

Thursday afternoon while the seas were running mountain high and a cold wind had driven every one from the decks the fire broke out in the music room. At the time the room was crowded. While the captain and his men fought the flames the orchestra played softly and soothed the alarm which bordered close on a panic.

For an hour before the flames were discovered passengers had complained of smelling smoke. Captain Poirot tried to reassure them that there was no danger, but he instituted a search. Smoke was discovered then coming from a high book case. The captain ordered the wall out. The blaze appeared. Crossed electric wires had started the flames. Because there was no draft they had not spread much, however, and the blaze was extinguished with hand grenades.

Noisy Woman Suffragists.

London, Nov. 23.—Woman suffragists stormed every police court throughout England and Scotland today. They were ejected everywhere except in a few cases where the magistrates ordered them thrown in jail, but they yielded only to force, and not until they had created scenes such as the dignified British magistracy has never looked on before.

The campaign was begun, by prearrangement, everywhere at the same time. To the trials of men prisoners they paid no attention. As often, however, as a woman was arraigned they burst into a chorus of screams, denunciations of the court, encouragement to the prisoner and vociferous declarations that woman are not amenable to men-made laws. The recent scenes in the British Houses of Parliament had already given London magistrates an inkling of what confronted them and little ceremony was used.

Officers were ordered to clear the court rooms at once and the women were hustled pell-mell into the streets, screaming and struggling at every step. Even there they gathered about the doorways demanding their rights and defying the police to drive them away.

Crime in Wilmington.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 23.—Two women were held up, a man was sandbagged and stabbed last night and a murder was committed here early this morning. The victim of the murder was Wm. Moore, aged 25, formerly of this city, but late of Clifton Mills, near Kennett Square, Pa. Charged with the murder, John Sullivan, who is a few years older than the dead man, is locked up at police headquarters. The murder was committed shortly after one o'clock this morning, and two hours later Sullivan was arrested.

Marshal Aikley, aged 47, was sandbagged and stabbed from behind while he sat at Market street bridge last night. His assailant escaped. The wounded man was removed to a hospital where it was said he would recover.

The Misses Mary A. Ott and Gertrude O'Toole were held up by negroes at different times last night. Miss Ott beat her assailant off with her umbrella. Miss O'Toole made her escape by flight and fainted as she reached her home.

Anti-Bryan Sentiment.

Franch Lick, Ind., Nov. 23.—The anti-Bryan sentiment that cropped out at Tom Taggart's dinner to members of the democratic national committee last night has taken force today, and any number of democratic leaders, while admitting that Bryan is the most available candidate for President, say he should not be nominated unless he is the most available at the time of the convention. Major J. C. Dahlmann, of Omaha said today that Nebraska democrats would not sulk if some good democrat other than Bryan should be nominated. At the full meeting of the committee December 12 in Washington the anti-Bryan forces will attempt to make a showing of strength, it is declared today. Practically all the eastern members will again be present.

The President's Order.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Following is the text of the President's order to the various department heads, forbidding the encouragment of the third term movements by Federal office-holders:

Sir: I am informed that certain office holders in your department, and in various positions throughout the country, contemplate attending republican conventions in their respective States, and urging the endorsement of myself for the presidential nomination. I wish you would direct federal office holders in your department, who have such a thing in view, that I would regard it as an act of official impropriety and discourtesy. Yours truly

The Harije Case.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 23.—J. Scott Ferguson today filed with the prothonotary of the Superior Court a petition for a rehearing of Augustus Harije's troubles. Mr. Ferguson said after filing his petition that no specified allegations are made of misconduct on Mrs. Harije's part. He added that the court is told that it misapprehended the facts generally. As the Superior Court does not meet until December 2 the decision on the petition will not be known until then. "If the Superior Court refuses my motions," said Ferguson, "an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court. We have only started to fight."

Mysterious Deaths.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. N. Smith were found dead from bullet wounds in their heads this morning as their handsome Woodland avenue residence was burning about them. Smith was in the automobile business in New York. The police say they think Smith killed his wife, set the house on fire and then committed suicide. Also her theory is that burglars committed double murder, robbed the house and then set it on fire.

A passer-by noticed the flames in the Smith residence and gave the alarm. When the police and firemen arrived they broke in the door and on the third floor found two maids almost unconscious from smoke and fear.

"My God! don't ask me what happened. They are in there," exclaimed one of the women when asked where Mrs. Smith was.

Then the police rushed back. Mrs. Smith was found in her bed. She lay with her hands folded under her head, and the only evidence of anything wrong was the blotch of crimson on the breast of her white silken night robe.

Beside the bed was an automatic revolver. A trail of blood led into the next room where Smith was found, stretched across the bed in his underwear. There was a bullet hole behind his ear. The police think he staggered into his own room after inflicting his own fatal wound. Mrs. Smith's attitude indicated she had no warning of the shot that killed her.

Pugilistic.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Jonny Bull today is admitted to have recovered some of his lost pugilistic prestige through the terrific beating given last night by Owen Moran, the little English fighter, to Frankie Neill, one the cleverest men of his weight in the United States. Moran gave Neil such a beating that the latter's seconds threw up the sponge under police instructions.

Boston, Nov. 23.—Bill Papke, the Illinois fighter, made good last night when he knocked out two men in the same ring. The first to receive the quietus was Charlie Hadley, of Boston, who quit after one minute and 55 seconds of fighting. It took Bill just a trifle longer to put Bartley Connolly down and out for the count in the fourth round.

Moroccan Pretender Defeated.

Melilla, Morocco, Nov. 23.—Mulsi Hafid, pretender to the Moroccan throne, has been defeated with heavy slaughter in a general engagement with Sultan Abd-El-Aziz's troops. The battle was the most important of the rebellion.

The pretender's men fought desperately, but were completely routed and fled. The loyalists are still in pursuit, cutting down the stragglers and preventing the main body from rallying.

The defeat is Mulai's second within a few days and probably foreshadows the collapse of the rebellion. He was bitterly opposed to foreigners and his downfall will go far toward restoring order in Morocco.

Douma Returns Thanks to Czar.

St Petersburg, Nov. 28.—With profound assurances of devotion to the present form of government, of anxiety for the pacification of Russia and the spread of popular education and of respect for his majestys law the new Douma returned thanks to the Czar today for the right of popular representation granted by him to the country. "We wish to be a buttress for the greatness and power of indivisible Russia," says the address to the throne," and thereby justify the trust reposed in us. "Have confidence in us, Sire."

CHARGED WITH WATERING STOCK.

William M. Ivins, while investigating the affairs of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company for the Public Service Commission in New York yesterday, declared that Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and his friends who formerly owned the Nassau Electric Railway Company, of Brooklyn, had watered its stock to the extent of $6,250,000 and then sold it to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. This was alleged to have taken place in a reorganization of the Nassau Company in January, 1899.

Questioning Timothy S. Williams, vice president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, about the reorganization of the Nassau Company, Mr. Ivins said: "On that reorganization I find that they increased their bond issue, which had heretofore been $5,500,000 by an additional $8,946,960. They made an entirely new issue of preferred stock of $6,000,000, they theretofore having no preferred stock, and that to the theretofore existing $6,000,000 of common stock they added $2,500,000, making a total of new issues of $17,946,960, and your acquisition was after this increase of capitalization. Can you tell me what these new securities were issued for?"

Mr. Williams said an explanation of the transaction was given in an agreement which Mr. Ivins had, but this was not read. Mr. Williams also contended that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, if it had bought $6,250,000 of water, had subsequently squeezed it out.

"I cannot agree with you," said Mr. Ivins. "It looks to me like a plain case of stock-watering, and the company had no right to charge that $6,000,000 on its books to the cost and equipment of the road. It was wrong in principal, and if it wasn't then against the law, the law ought to be amended so as to make such a transaction impossible."

Arrest of Republican Leaders.

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 23.—Several arrests were made today of republican leaders charged with conspiracy to corrupt King Carlos's personal guard, seize the palace and government, force his majesty to abdicate and seat Crown Prince Luiz Phillipe on the throne. The premier threatens to proclaim martial law, and there is a strong prospect that the plotters under arrest may be shot. Business is completely prostrated.

Mr. Bryan in Alexandria.

That Mr. William J. Bryan has in no way lost his popularity with the masses—certainly not in the Old Dominion—was apparent by the large and representative audience that filled the Opera House last night to welcome the great commoner. Many ladies were in the audience, as well as members of all political parties who had gathered, not for curiosity to see a man who has attained world wide fame, but to be entertained and instructed. And none was disappointed, as during a period of about an hour and three-quarters every one in the assembly listened with close attention to the speaker who was at his best. His flow of humor was almost incessant, while his pathos was as animating as of old.

About 8:20 o'clock Mr. Bryan, who had arrived in this city late in the afternoon, reached the Opera House in a hack accompanied by former Senator Cockrell and Rev. C. D. Bulla, at whose residence he was being entertained, Mr. Bryan, accompanied by his daughter, having previously dined at the parsonage. He entered from the Pitt street side and when he walked out on the stage the audience broke out in a spasm of applause, while every one in the hall rose to his feet. A large crowd had previously greeted Mr. Bryan on the outside of the hall. The stage was crowded as was also the main auditorium, and Mr. Bryan, after bowing his acknowledgments took his seat amidst ministers of the gospel, lawyers, occupants of official positions, newspaper men and others. In the audience and on the stage were many besides Alexandrians. Numbers of Washingtonians were present, as well as a sprinkling of residents of the surrounding country. A huge floral tribute was placed in front of Mr. Bryan as a token of the appreciation of the Mrs. F. J. Kramer Floral Company. It bore the words, "To William J. Bryan, the next President of the United States."

After a few minutes had elapsed Rev. Mr. Bulla arose and advanced to introduce the speaker. This he did in a few appropriate remarks referring to the fact that Mr. Bryan's ancestors were Virginians and that he was a citizen of the world. Mr. Bulla also announced that the proceeds of the lecture were to be devoted to the work to be carried on at the George R. Hill Memorial Hall, to which place he invited the audience after the lecture in order to meet Mr. Bryan. Another outburst of applause followed as Mr. Bryan arose and advanced.

When the applause had subsided Mr. Bryan began his remarks by saying that he always experienced pleasure in visiting Virginia, as his early memories were in connection with his father's home. The speaker had ever found the Old Dominion a genial place, and he sincerely appreciated his reception in old Alexandria. Mr. Bryan said he had during his lifetime been connected with various branches of the Christian church. His father had been a Baptist and his mother a Methodist, and, as a compromise, the speaker had joined the Presbyterian Church. He had, however, married a Baptist, but he and his wife had since become members of the Methodist Church. In referring to the Presbyterian Church he said the doctrine of election was never clear to him, and he told an anecdote the point of which was that it was necessary first to become a candidate, in which event one was sure of being elected. Mr. Bryan said he was glad there was no campaign in progress at present, as he could speak without bias. It was easy to make a non-partisan speech and extremely hard to deliver a partisan address. He, however, touched somewhat on politics, but in a pleasant way which was much enjoyed. In referring to the fact that the republicans have of late appropriated some important planks from the democratic platform, he good-humoredly said the same was for use, and "if we (the democrats) cannot get an opportunity to use the planks we should be glad if others would utilize them." Mr. Bryan recited some apt and amusing anecdotes in illustrating this suggestion. He referred to certain senseless cartoons which have from time to time protrayed him in all sorts of ridiculous shapes, among them one in which he was pictured as a chicken minus plumage save one feather. Roosevelt was also represented as a hen sitting on a nest, but Mr. Bryan was made to perch upon the limb of a tree. The President, however, was sitting upon his (Bryan's) feathers and there was a possibility of the present executive getting possession of the only one feather the cartoonist had left on Mr. Bryan. The speaker said he still had his feathers and others were growing. He said the action of Mr. Roosevelt in sitting on his eggs reminded him of a question discussed by a certain debating society. It was as to the parentage of chickens where one hen lays the eggs and another hatches them. The democrats have been laying the eggs and the republicans have been setting upon them and bringing the chickens out of their shells. The speaker, however, said he had no objection to this procedure.

Mr. Bryan then proceeded to the subject upon which his lecture had been prepared, the basis of which was his recent trip around the world, and he seemed to carry his audience with him to the interesting points he and his family visited, and his recapitulations of the history which made them immortal enlisted the undivided attention of every one of his auditors. He said he had started on the trip with his wife and children for the education he was convinced it would afford them. While they had encircled the planet and had observed much and naturally acquired knowledge by visiting the old world and places made famous by history, he made it plain to his hearers that so far as natural scenery was concerned, our own land is unsurpassed. Mr. Bryan contrasted certain places in foreign countries with those in America, showing the excellence of those in the latter, in which the hand of God is truly seen. The speaker gave rapid glances at Damascus, Stockholm, Constantinople, rivers of Europe, especially the Tiber, the Danube and the Rhine, but said the latter was excelled by the Columbia in this country, while the Tiber was disappointing. He described the lakes of the old country, but Lake Tahoe, in our own country, he said, was superior to those of Switzerland; told of his visit to Norway, his observance of the midnight sun, and suddenly flashed on the mind's eye Palestine with all its holy associations. His descriptions of the land of the Bible were vivid, and he dwelt some time on places made sacred to both Jews and Christians. He suddenly shifted to the Himalayas, and after describing their grandeur, carried his audience to India and told of the ruins of massive temples which had recently been erected there. Mr. Bryan said he would make no attempt to describe the ruins of Greece and Egypt, as they were minutely pictured in geographies and other books, and he turned to Syria and described the ruins of Baalbek and other places in that locality, telling of the massive stones used by the ancients in their temples, some as large as passenger cars. He said he gazed upon one 72 feet long and 15 feet thick, which is still in a quarry and has been for a century a wonder of the world, as no one seems to know how it was quarried and squared or by what machinery it was moved. Observations in Java, China, Japan, the Philippine and Samoan islands were subsequently portrayed to the audience. Mr. Bryan's descriptions of interviews with royalty from the Sultan of the Moros to Edward, were much enjoyed. The speaker said some people had pictured him an anarchist, but the fact that he had a private interview with the Czar of Russia, who can scent an anarchist from afar, should be a sufficient answer to the aspersion.

Mr. Bryan in closing contrasted conditions in most foreign countries with those of the United States, and said the influence of this country was extending to the ends of the earth. It has been said that the sun never sets upon English territory. The speaker could say that the orb never sets on American philanthrophy.

When Mr. Bryan ceased speaking the audience arose and loud applause followed. He was immediately surrounded by the large number of persons on the stage who shook his hand. Later Mr. Bryan entered a carriage and was driven to the George R. Hill Memorial Hall, where he was tendered another ovation.

The reception was held on the second floor of the building, which is known as Epworth Hall. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, and Mr. Bryan was introduced by Rev. C. D. Bulla to the large number of persons who cordially grasped his hand. Mr. Bryan had a pleasant word for all.

In a short conversation with a representative of the Gazette Mr. Bryan expressed pleasure at again being in Alexandria and of meeting his old friends and then told of his busy life. Concerning politics he said he believed the democrats had an excellent chance of winning in the next election. Asked if it were true as reported in the Washington papers that he would announce his intentions concerning his candidacy at the dinner to be given him on Tuesday, he replied that he had already made his announcement, referring to the statement that he had previously made: "Having twice led the party and having been twice defeated, I am no more a candidate, but if I am drafted, I will not run away."

Mr. Bryan was entertained at a dinner given by Mr. Bulla and his family, at which were present a few intimate friends, among them former Senator Cockrell, of Missouri.

NEW CHURCH FOR COLORED PEOPLE IN ALEXANDRIA

An important movement has been inaugurated by the colored people in Alexandria and elsewhere to build a new church, which will replace the Meade chapel in that city, the present building being entirely inadequate to meet the great needs of the work there.

This latter building is an old one of frame and much out of repair. It lacks the necessities which will make it comfortable, particularly in winter, and the attractions which will commend it to those whom it is desired to reach with the ministrations of the church.

There is no rectory and one would greatly strengthen the organization.

The pastor of the church is the Rev. Joseph F. Mitchell, one of the most faithful and energetic of our colored clergy, and his efforts are untiring towards this object.

The cost of such a plant as is desired, including a rectory, is $10,000. This seems a great sum, but when the peculiar needs of the colored work are considered, and the great advantage of such a plant in Alexandria, which is the center of a large colored population, it is not excessive. The good which can be thus accomplished is simply incalculable.

A building committee has been organized, consisting of Messrs. Charles L. Taylor, John Leadbeater, Frank T. King, Lewis L. Green, and Dr. J. Milton Hopkins, all of Alexandria, and representative men in the church there.

The Rev. Wm. J. Morton, rector of Christ church, with which Meade chapel is connected, is an active promoter of the scheme, as are the Revs. P. P. Phillips of St. Paul's and Edgar Carpenter, of Grace church.

The movement is cordially endorsed by the Bishop of the Diocese, the Archdeacon of the colored work, and Dr. Angus Crawford, of the Virginia Theological Seminary.—[So. Churchman.

PRETTY WEDDING.

One of the prettiest of weddings of that section was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Boggs in the Crenshaw Methodist Episcopal Church, at Blackstone, Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Fanny W. Johnson, of Nottaway county, became the bride of Mr. Bernard B. Cline, of Alexandria. The bride wore a traveling suit of brown broadcloth and carried the prayer book of the Episcopal Church. The maid of honor was Miss Mary G. Johnson, sister of the bride, who wore a white organdy over pink and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The best man was Mr. Frank W. Smith, of Alexandria. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and evergreens. The ushers were Messrs. Matthew Webster, Samuel Thomas and William Farley, all of Blackstone, and Willie Johnson, of Richmond. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. William Johnson, of Nottaway. The bride and her attendants entered the rear of the church to the strains of "Lohengrin" Wedding March, and were met at the altar by the groom and his best man who entered from the front of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Cline left immediately for the South on their wedding tour, after a copious shower of rice and old shoes, administered by their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cline will visit the Jamestown Exposition before they return to their future home in Alexandria. Among the out-of-town visitors were Mrs. Joseph H. Byrne, of Alexandria, sister of the groom, and Mr. Frank W. Smith, of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Morris and daughter, Mr. Willie Johnson and Miss Mc-Cook, of Richmond.

ACCIDENTALLY CUT.

Mr. F. L. Slaymaker has returned from a a visit to Harrisonburg much improved in health.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE.

Lieut. John W. Crawford, of Washington, secretary to Admiral Dewey, is missing from his home, and his friends and the police believe he has committed suicide by drowning.

Garments found on the ferryboat Lackawanna and identified as the property of Lieut. Crawford afford reason for believing that he has made way with himself.

A letter received from the missing man yesterday evening by Bennet A. Allen, chief of the division of accounting of the Postoffice Department, told of financial troubles.

The coat which the latter identified as belonging to the missing lieutenant, was found by Capt. Frank Luckett, of the ferryboat, on the extreme edge of the after deck.

Lieutenant Crawford was born forty years ago in Vineland, N. J., and during early life was a journalist.

Major Sylvester, Chief of the Washington, police has offered a reward of $25 for the recovery of Crawford's body.

THE TUNNEL ACCIDENT.

An inquiry into the accident which occurred at the southern end of the new railway tunnel, New Jersey avenue and D street southeast, Washington, last Tuesday evening, in which twenty persons were injured, will be begun by the District Commissioners next Wednesday afternoon. The detectives report that the switch had been broken for several days, according to information given by a workman in the tunnel. "This switch," the detectives say, "was repaired immediately after the accident." It was a cross-over switch about thirty yards from the north entrance of the tunnel, and was the one by which train 215 had crossed over from the south to the north bound track. "This cross-over switch," says the report, "had been spiked on the northbound track so that when train 215 went over this diamond cross to the northbound track, it broke the point of this switch."

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

Despite a drizzling rain, the attendance yesterday at the Jamestown Exposition was good, and the celebrations by the Peninsula, Lunenburg county, Alexandria, Fredericksburg and Falls Church were generally observed. Owing to the weather conditions, a number of the out-of-door events, and in particular a parade of Blue and Gray veterans planned as a feature, had to be cut out. The various cities and counties were well represented, the Peninsula people turning out in large numbers. The Auditorium exercises were brief but interesting. President Tucker and Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson welcomed the visitors in generous terms, and responses were made by Mayor Fred J. Paff, of Alexandria, and Mayor Irvin, of Falls Church.

"A PAIR OF COUNTRY KIDS."

Among the many high class attractions Manager Underwood has booked at the Opera House for the coming season none gives better promise of being a distinct novelty than "A Pair of Country Kids," that will appear for one night only, Friday, Nov. 29. This new rural comedy drama has been built on entirely new lines and is as true to nature as stagecraft will permit, and as this is the day of the scenic artist and the stage artisan, we can expect to spend one jolly night in the country and laugh and romp with the kids and their merry company among whom are numbered the best of the later day artists, each selected for a particular part, which enables the management to guarantee a perfect production.

COLORED MAN ARRESTED.

Arthur Robinson, colored, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Joseph F. Glover, charged with selling whisky without a government license. He was taken before United States Commissioner R. P. W. Garnett, and after furnishing bond in the sum of $300 was released for his appearance this afternoon, when he was given a hearing. After an examination of the witnesses Commissioner Garnett did not consider the evidence against the accused sufficient and he discharged him.

A meeting will be held at Confederate Hall, on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a Camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. At this meeting Col. R. E. Lee, jr., will make an address and there will be short talks by Rev. Wm. J. Morton, of Christ Church, and others. Dr. Gorman is chairman and Mr. C. W. O'Meara secretary of the committee.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with bilious ness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and catartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—MRS. ROSA POTTS, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

Sale of Gems Postponed.

Brussels, Nov. 22.—The divorced Princess Louise, King Leopold's wayward daughter, has secured a fresh postponement of the auction sale of the jewels left to her by her mother, the late Queen Maria Henrietta, until December 13. The princess still hopes to find some way of retaining possession of the heirlooms. How she proposes to do so is a puzzle, as her debts already aggregate almost $1,000,000 and King Leopold has refused to buy the gems either from his daughter or at auction, though they have been offered to him at less than half their real value.

NOTICE

——TO THE——

ALEXANDRIA PUBLIC.

I have this day accepted the agency for the Patent Fin Hot Water Heater. It is now on exhibition in my store where you can inspect same. It is the most modern up-to-date Gas-heated Hot Water Radiator in the World.

When it is considered that we must depend on some method of artificially heating our homes and public places practically half the year, and that during this time our life is largely spent indoors in an artifical atmosphere and temperature, it certainly seems natural that we should use methods of heating that would not endanger health (by violating Nature's laws of physics and physiology), nor be needlessly expensive and wasteful. Yet, the fact is, a very small proportion of our homes and business places are healthfully, comfortably and economically heated.

The Patent Fin Hot Water Radiator does this or otherwise you may return it. Come in and let us explain it.

A Mistake.

Not one of us, even the most good natured, likes to have his mistakes pointed out. We may appear not to mind corrections and accept them with a smile, but it is human nature to smart under correction, although some of us may be clever enough to conceal the smart; hence the fewer mistakes we call attention to in others the better. Two-thirds of the mistakes we make are trivial. Their correction is unimportant. Why, then, notice them? Yet some people do, and do so constantly. A person speaks of having done a certain thing on Thursday, when in reality it was done on Wednesday. If no important point is involved, why call attention to the mistake? What good does it do to have the exact day set right? It is a matter of no importance, so why insist upon correcting the trivial error? Stanch friendships have often been pricked by this needle of useless correction. It is a great art, this art of learning to allow others to be mistaken when the mistake is unimportant. Few learn it, but those who do are among the most comfortable friends one can have.

Arbiters of Hairdressing.

"I want to learn the latest thing in hairdressing," said the visitor as soon as she landed in New York. "Take me to a hairdresser's establishment, so I can look things over."

"No, indeed," said her New York friend. "We will go there after you know what you wish to buy, but the place to learn how to dress your hair is in the dry goods shops. All you have to do is to study the salesgirls' hair. It is always done in the latest mode, and they all do it alike, so you cannot mistake. Sometimes it is badly exaggerated, but, of course, you don't have to copy that."

"Not in all respects, but, you see, hairdressing doesn't cost anything. To have the latest styles in clothes or jewelry is expensive, but one can be a very howling swell in the matter of hair without its costing a cent. Besides, they are usually restricted in the matter of gowns to plain black or possibly white blouses, so they take it all out in doing their hair."—New York Press.

What It Costs to Feel and Think.

Every throb of pleasure costs something to the physical system, and two throbs cost twice as much as one. If we cannot fix a precise equivalent it is not because the relation is not definite, but from the difficulties of reducing degrees of pleasure to a recognized standard. Of this, however, there can be no reasonable doubt—namely, that a large amount of pleasure supposes a correspondingly large expenditure of blood and nerve tissue, to the stinting, perhaps, of the active energies and the intellectual processes. It is a matter of practical moment to ascertain what pleasures cost least, for there are thrifty and unthrifty modes of spending our brain and heart's blood. One of the safest of delights, if not very acute, is the delight of abounding physical vigor, for, from the very supposition, the supply to the brain is not such as to interfere with the general interests of the system.—Alexander Bain.

Nothing Doing.

"I believe," said he, "in subtlety and restraint. A nod, a shake of the head, a silent pause—these things are often more effective than the most violent yelling and ranting.

"Life is like that, subtle and silent. What, for instance, could be more expressive than this scene, a scene without a spoken word, that I once witnessed in the country?

"An undertaker stood on a corner near a noble mansion. He elevated his brows hopefully and inquiringly as a physician came from the house. The physician, compressing his lips, shook his head decidedly and hurried to his carriage. Then the undertaker, with a sigh, passed on."

Mary Knew All About It.

Little Mary's father had been teaching her to walk properly. "Walk slowly and turn out your toes," he admonished her.

While she was undergoing this teaching she attended Sunday school one day. The golden text was, "Teach me to walk honestly." After reciting it several times the teacher asked:

"Who knows what that means?"

"I do," replied little Mary. "Walk slowly and turn out your toes."

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough,

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee Imitation ever yet produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for coffee. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

He Fought at Gettysburg.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alterative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by all druggist. 50c

Six o'Clock Folk.

How many of our readers know what a "6 o'clock man" is? Miss Spurgeon, one of the lecturers in English at Bedford college, Baker streeet, has a country cottage and an old "Ralph's mill" in the middle of Westleton heath, Saxmundham. The other day a non-Suffolk lady told her that her gardener's wife had often said, "We are 6 o'clock people," and she had taken it to mean "early risers." But soon after some one said that this lady's husband was "a 6 o'clock gentleman," and as she knew that he didn't get up early she asked what the epithet meant and was told, "Upright, like the hands of the clock are at 6 o'clock." Another use of the word in Suffolk is seen in "living upright"—that is, on independent means.—Westminster Gazette.

Backwardness of the First Families.

While without doubt the courtesy of street car conductors and minor city employees isn't all that it might be, the public is hardly justified in demanding Chesterfields and Brummels on wages of $2 a day. Many years ago an indignant citizen complained to old Mayor Quincy of Boston that the street sweepers were an ungentlemanly lot.

"I know it, I know it," acknowledged the old gentleman sadly. "I've tried to induce the members of the first families of Commonwealth avenue to handle the brooms, but they won't do it."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Harder Labor.

"What did you get the rubber gloves for?" they asked her as she passed them around to show how handsome they were. "You have a girl, haven't you? You don't have to wash the dishes."

"No," she answered, "I don't have to wash the dishes, but while she is washing the dishes I oil the floors."—New York Press.

Exceptional Case.

"They couldn't convict that forger. When he was caught he chewed up the forgery and swallowed it."

"Well, it isn't every man who is so willing to eat his words when it's proved he's in the wrong."—Kansas City Times.

Insulted.

His Poetic Imagination.

"Doesn't the delay at the telephone annoy you?"

"No," said the slow spoken person, "I kind of like silence and solitude, and I never feel more alone than I do with the receiver at my ear and no sound save that of a low sad voice now and then in the dark distance that sighs, 'Waiting!'"—Washington Star.

Not Guilty.

Employer (to his clerk)—Is it true that when the clock strikes 6 you put down your pen and go, even if you are in the middle of a word? Clerk—Certainly not, sir. If it gets so near 6 as that I never begin the word at all.—Rire.
